FROM DAY TO DAY

A CHILD OF SEVEN.

All the bells of heaven may ring,
All the birds of heaven may sing,
All the words of earth may bring
Altogether gathered together,
Sweeter than all things heard,
Hand of harper, tone of bird,
Welling water's wondrous work,
Wind in warm, warm weather,
No thing yet there is, that more
Heaven so its chiming are done,
Saves not well the sweetest ear,
A sound of music beneath the sun,
Hoped in heaven hereafter.
Soft and strong, and loud and light,
Very sweet and very light,
Keen from morning's earliest hour,
When the soul of all delight
Tells a child's clear laughter,
Golden bells of welcome rolled
Seven forth such tones, nor told
Hears so little in tones so held
Might be half as sweet as when
They that ring forth heaven.
If the golden bells were
Were a thing, why, then,
Something seen and heard of men
Might be half as sweet as when
Laughs a child of seven.
—Swainburne.

The marriage will take place very quietly, early in January, of Miss Maybelle Elizabeth Allen, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Allen, of the city, to Mr. James Clarence Baker, B.Sc., D.L.S., Vernon, Alta., son of Mr. and Mrs. O. Baker, of the same place.

WOMEN HONOR THEIR LEADER.

Natanson, B.C., Dec. 30. The Laurier Liberal Ladies' league, organized five years ago by Mrs. Ralph Smith, wife of the member for this constituency in the commons and who is at present residing in Ottawa with her husband, has shown in tangible form its appreciation of the work of its founder. At a recent meeting of the organization the members forwarded to Mrs. Smith, at Ottawa, a gold brooch of exquisite design, beautifully encased with pearls. As well as a tender society Mrs. Smith is generally conceded to be one of the best informed women on matters political in the Dominion today. The society fostered through her efforts has secured a notable success in its sphere. It is composed exclusively of ladies.

A NOVEL HAMLET.

Chicago and New York theatregoers are looking forward with delight to the appearance of Eddie Foy, that very buoyant personage of the stage, as Hamlet. Foy has made the announcement himself.

This irrepressible comedian, who has perhaps caused as much laughter as any actor living, is really to become Mr. Minchinsky Dams. He is already rehearsing in his barn at New Rochelle—and when the first hot modestly raises his head to look upon the son Eddie will quickly step forth in a New York theatre in the black restraints of Hamlet himself.

As a comedian he is already well known on the continent and he also was a hero of prominence at the time of the frequent theatre fire, Dec. 30, 1903. He was the chief comedian in the "Mr. Blankenship" company, which was playing at the theatre house, and it was he who attempted to prevent, by a few words, the fire from stampeding for the exits.

When Foy appeared the other day at the Lyric in New York that he would play the part of the Melancholy Dane next summer, he also said he would resume his family name and become Eddie Foy Foy Foy. The name Eddie Foy he considered altogether too frivolous.

To a journalist who asked him of the plans for next night's play, "I've got the same right to play Hamlet as you have to play Hamlet," he said. "I don't care for a copy of the piece and that's all it cost my body else. I grant that I used to sing Hamlet was a Melancholy Dane," but I did not state it as a fact, and I don't care to be misunderstood by having no bearing on the case.

"If it's a joke, although I regard this the greatest of all Shakespeare's works, as a comedy and not a tragedy, I don't intend to put it on, although I will play it for the laughs, and there I don't care for it. I will put 'Hamlet' on in the spring right here in New York.

"I can't expect too often that I will give it a respectful audience. The book will not interest any one, and with all due respect to our modern libertarians, Shakespeare is good enough for me. I will not intrude any more. The play Hamlet will positively not be featured. I have never played the part of Hamlet right out on the stage, but for twenty years I have read and rehearsed it.

"I do a turn with it every day. I am home in New Rochelle, and my wife and children think it does me good, and then some men drink my beer. So they don't interfere. For five years I have practiced it in my stable, as you see. I can't say I have been hampered in the past. As I have been, and the votes must be given to me, I will not open in New Haven and then go on the road for a week while we fix over the piece. I have tried it on the dog-day dog days in the barn. He can't see while I am rehearsing, though, because I can't tell I don't read it.

A WELL-PUSHED LINE.

A party of travelling men in a Chicago hotel were boasting of the latest news from their respective firms when one of the drummers said: "No house in the country, I am proud to say, has more men and women pushing their goods than mine."

"What do you sell?" he was asked.

"Baby-carriages," he shouted.

LORD CURZON WILL ENTER POLITICS AGAIN.

But His Only Way to Get to it is by Becoming Representative Irish Peer.

LONDON, Jan. 1.—Lord Curzon, 6th Marquess, chancellor of Oxford University, has agreed to allow himself to be nominated for the vacant peerage of the representative peers of Ireland, caused by the death of Lord Curzon, Viscount, November 9.

It is generally supposed that when the peerage was offered upon him it was with a view of his returning to the house of commons, and for a long time this view has been the object of the administration of his strength and energy had driven him reluctantly to the conclusion that he could not enter the house.

Unfortunately, he said, he was deterred from entering the house of lords by the ordinary channels by the refusal of the premier to allow him to take his place with all the other ex-viceroy of India as the only member of the public life by the only means open to him, namely, as a representative Irish peer.

The writs of election have already been issued, and the votes must be returned by Jan. 20. All the Unionists were welcome the return of Lord Curzon to active political life, but it is feared that his health will prevent him from taking the leadership of the party in place of Joseph Chamberlain, which was suggested by many members who were dissatisfied with Balfour's attitude with regard to tariff reform.

Lord Curzon's reference to Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman's refusal to lead the opposition through the ordinary channels and to the presumption that upon his retirement from the office of viceroy of India, he intended to the premier as an ex-viceroy, he should be made an English peer.

A new $5,000 boat will be built at Collingwood for this trade and will be the latest purchased boat of the company. A dividend of 8 per cent. was declared on last year.

A BRIGHT PAIR.

After a most successful season on the other side of the "pond" in the theatre, the bright pair, Misses Gordon and Hays, the clever sister team, have signed a contract with Mr. G. H. Humphreys, of the vaudeville theatre, for a travelling stock company. These clever girls will appear in a variety of themselves an international reputation as phenomenal character change artists and will introduce their wonderful act at every performance. The girls will appear in the vaudeville portion of the performance as Arthur Stone, monologist; Mancy and Kromer, impersonators; Herring, Bontas in pictorial melodies; and Geo. H. Humphreys in comic sketches. The Summer Stock company comes to Edmonton next week.

"AS TOLD IN THE HILLS."

"As Told in the Hills," a "Tennessee Partner" remounted. "There is no change except in the name, and that is all," said the audience. There were no programs, and as a result the public was not disappointed. The girls as names of the actors and characters made famous by last night's production.
